My relationship with Blusource traces back to 2010 both as a candidate, and as a customer. I felt from the beginning it was not just a recruitment relationship, but a business relationship. Time has proven this to be the case, giving me access to the business networks they have, which I have benefitted from in all aspects of my career.

When I have been in the market looking for people, Blusource have always placed quality over quantity. I get a transparent assessment too, which aids in finding the best candidates in a competitive market.

Sincerely I do like working with them, and without a doubt I will continue to use them.
